Election Fun Coming Up

King Mederos of Carmel, friend and patron of Carmel's late town dog, Pal, during the latter's declining years, says he's toying with the idea of running for supervisor against Andrew Jacobsen on the grounds that it's about time somebody did. "Andy" has been a supervisor since 1932 when he beat Major Jack Carruthers. Since then there have been elections every four years as per schedule but they were nothing in Mr. Jacobsen's life. Nobody has ventured to run against him—in 16 years! This is all due to the fact that "Andy" is such a good supervisor, his supporters say. "Nobody's that good," maintains King Mederos, so if nobody else will stir himself to give Andy a little competition in the coming election in the name of good democracy, maybe he'll take a flutter at it himself.

The Pine Cone at the present moment is not coming out for either King or Andy, but The Pine Cone shouts from the house tops that another uncontested election for Andy is a little bit thick!

We're For It

The snow trip last weekend to Long Barn has given the Carmel High School Ski Club ideas. The kids want a rope tow up Ocean Avenue Hill.

The Roving Registrar

County Clerk Emmet McMenamin phoned us yesterday in re our support of the Labor Council's request for roving registrars. County Clerk McMenamin says he's against the whole idea. He thinks that if people aren't good enough citizens to go down town to register without having to be hunted out in their lairs, they aren't good enough citizens to vote, and probably won't anyway. We agreed with him that he was right in theory but in actual practice many good citizens just plain forget to register, or can't find time, or keep putting it off, and in the last analysis, people are people, and the flesh is weak though the spirit may be no end willing. Anyway, if the people want roving registrars, and apparently they do, (the League of Women Voters sees eye to eye with the Labor Council on this subject) then the people should have roving registrars, especially since a roving registrar collects no more fee per head than a stationary one, ten cents.

Clerk McMenamin groaned and said all right, all right, we should have roving registrars as soon as he could get some proper and efficient people lined up for the job, but he still thinks it's a very bad idea because people should care enough for their franchise to take the trouble to stir themselves a little about it. If we don't watch it, pretty soon we won't have a vote but will have a totalitarian government with some blue-chinned persona no grata telling us when to stand up and when to sit down. This last is not a direct quote but a paraphrase.

Community Invited To Piano Debut In Free Concert At Sunset Sunday

To The Music Lovers of the Community:

Feb. 12, 1948

In the musical history of Carmel, Sunday, February 15, 1948, should be a memorable day since on that evening at 8 p.m. the Music Society has decided to invite the residents of this community, free of charge, to the Sunset School Auditorium to hear the new Steinway concert grand piano for the first time. This instrument, it will be recalled, was purchased some months ago through funds subscribed by friends of music as an acknowledgment of the many years of accomplishment of the Carmel Music Society here and as a symbol of perpetuation of the exalted standards attained.

When a painter has completed a picture it stands in objective reality for all to see. This, too, holds true for a work of sculpture. Literature is somewhat less accessible as an art form, but even there, equipped as we are, it is possible for most of us to read what has been written.

With music the problem is quite different. The creative mind records itself in composition which must be brought to life through performance. Not only is an interpretative artist essential to the communication of musical composition, but also the adequate instrument is indispensable. It is this that is now an acquisition of this community, and the board of directors of the Carmel Music Society invites everyone interested to be their guest Sunday evening at the Sunset Auditorium when the piano will first be played.

A great critic of music, and indeed a most distinguished performer (Robert Casadesu, to be explicit) has said that in his estimation, to be fully appreciated, music should be safeguarded through anonymity. All of us are impress-

SOLOIST NAMED

Just before The Pine Cone went to press announcement was made that the soloist for the Sunday evening concert mentioned in Noel Sullivan's article will be Bernhard Abramovitch, a member of the faculty of the University of California, who has recently given a series of recitals of the best works of contemporary composers. He has specialized in Schubert, for whom he is said to have done what Schnabel did for Beethoven. The program follows:

The Wanderer Fantasy, Schubert; Fantasy in C Minor, Mozart; Sonata in B Minor, Philip Emmanuel Bach; Ballade, Nocturne, and several Waltzes, Chopin.

ed by names, and if we know we are listening to Beethoven, for instance, there is already a preconception in our minds which influences our reaction. What really might be dull, some of us would accept as thrilling, were we to see on the program that it had come from the pen of a great master. If this is true for the composer, it is obviously more so for the performer. A great name, a headliner, a "box office attraction," whose personality has been popularized, can and may deflect from the real experience of listening to music. And this is something that it is well (Continued on page twenty)

It Pays To Howl! Authorities Drop Speedway Plan

Flooded with letters of protest following Mayor Fred Godwin's statement in The Pine Cone that a Carmel Valley entrance into Carmel via Mountain View avenue was under consideration and had been discussed by the city council during a tree inspection trip, Supervisor Andrew Jacobsen says that the County Board of Supervisors has not "formally" considered such a project. He doesn't know anything about it. Never did know anything about it. He's running for re-election this year.

Dr. Stuart Nelson To Speak Here On Hindu Problems

Dr. Stuart Nelson, dean of the school of religion at Howard University, will speak on The Current Situation in India at 8:00 p. m., Wednesday, February 18, in Sunset School Auditorium, under the auspices of the Carmel Adult School.

Dr. Nelson has recently returned from an assignment with the American Friends Service Committee in India, where he was elected head of the British and American units. His responsibilities included superintending the distribution of food, emergency relief during uprisings, village rehabilitation and detailing of personnel to Red Cross and other agencies. On a ten-weeks' lecture tour of Indian colleges and universities he made an attempt to interpret America to the various groups, but he also gathered information concerning the problems of India which he will discuss next Wednesday. He will report on his conversations with Mahatma Gandhi at the beginning of the latest non-violence demonstrations, and on his observations of Nehru's control of the Constituent Assembly in New Delhi.

Dr. Nelson is a graduate of Howard University and the Yale University Divinity School. He has taken special courses at the Sorbonne and the Protestant Theological Seminary in Paris and at the Universities of Berlin and Marburg. He is the author of several books and a contributor to many magazines and scholarly journals.

The Wednesday lecture is open to the public without admission charge.

Military Funeral For Billie Jenkins

When the S. S. Cardinal O'Connell entered the Golden Gate Wednesday, the body of Carmel's Billie Bernard Jenkins was aboard, brought home with more than 2,800 others for a military funeral to be held shortly in the National Golden Gate Cemetery at San Bruno.

Billie Jenkins, the only son of Mrs. Fred Warren of the Village Auto Service, was a Sunset School boy and he graduated from Monterey High School in 1939, then joined the Navy in the following September. He was Yeoman 2c when he met his death on Guadalcanal November 15, 1942, and his name is permanently recorded in Devendorf Plaza, third on the list of those who represented Carmel in World War II.

Councilman Charlie Childers supports Mayor Godwin in his statement that the project was discussed informally on a tree inspection meeting here in Carmel and though the councilmen "talked it over" they did not formulate a policy for Carmel at the time.

In view of Supervisor Jacobsen's statement to The Pine Cone that the supervisors do not contemplate such action, the project has probably been scotched—temporarily, at least—since the citizens have expressed themselves as vigorously opposed to it.

If the matter should come up again after election, the suggestion for an alternate route in a letter printed on page 8 of this issue is worth considering.

The community owes Mayor Godwin its gratitude for being a bad politician and a good citizen. Letting the voters know what is in the wind so that they can protest while it is in the discussion stage, instead of waiting to drop it in their laps as an accomplished fact, is a very unconventional way for a public official to behave, but fortunately, Carmel is "different," in its mayors as in other respects. —W.C.

Legion Presents Flag To Scouts In Formal Ceremony

The Carmel American Legion Post 512 met last Wednesday evening in Legion Hall to make presentation of colors to Carmel Boy Scout Troop 86, to remedy a lack only recently discovered by the Legion sponsors. Jim Cooke, chairman of the Troop, announced that this is only the beginning of the acquisition of new equipment. Mrs. Muriel Doolittle, pianist, supplied the music, and Major Buck Sanders of Fort Ord, several weeks ago appointed by General Jens Doe to teach the Scouts the presentation of colors, was congratulated on his success.

Scout awards were made as follows: First class, Alan Reyburn and Stanley Fralick; second class, Raymond Danielson and James Edmondson; merit badges, Kurt von Meier for art and music, Ronny Doolittle and Robert Osborne for reading, home repairs and path finding, Jerry Robinson for path finding, athletics, swimming and home repairs, Lanny Doolittle for path finding, Leslie Doolittle for music, path finding and home repairs. A special award was made to Jerry Robinson whose five qualifications have made him a Star Scout.

Over 200 guests, including parents and city officials, were present to witness the impressive and colorful ceremony.

Tuesday, Feb. 17—Carmel High School at Salinas, 3:45. (Practice game.)

Village League Schedule

Monday, Feb. 16—D&J vs. Pine Cone; Carmel Boys' Club vs. Del Monte.

Wednesday, Feb. 18—Minatos vs. Ricketts & Freeman; Harley's vs. Frost Roofers.

BOYS' CLUB BENEFIT GAMES SATURDAY NIGHT

The Carmel High School gym will be the scene of the best basketball game presented on the Peninsula this season. Not only is good basketball assured, but the cause is a most worthy one. All proceeds from the game will be turned over to the Carmel Boys' Club to help equip their hard-working basketball teams. In their trips to neighboring communities the Boys' Club cagers play in all types of gyms and most of them are devoid of heat. Warm-up jackets are needed in the worst way and the support of the Peninsula basketball fans at Saturday night's game will assure the kids of the needed equipment.

High class basketball is guaranteed whenever the All-American Sports take to the hardwoods. This classy outfit has taken the measure of the best professional teams in the southern area and are highly regarded wherever they play. Cab Curtis, a great All-American from the University of Kentucky, is the coach and scoring sparkplug. Cab learned his basketball from Adolph Rupp, who is currently considered the best basketball coach in the United States.

Ky Miyamoto has banded together a sterling aggregation of casaba artists to represent the Village All-Stars. Such good performers as Del Wermuth, Tom Perez, Gordy Miyamoto, Bill McKenzie, Finis Jeffers, and Walt Emerson will attempt to uphold the honor of the Village. Ky Miyamoto is rated as good a ball handler as the professionals and should be able to give the visitors an interesting evening.

In tomorrow night's preliminary game the Carmel Boys' Club scrappy heavyweight quintet will tangle with the good Monterey Boys' Club five. The last fracas between these two teams was one of the best games of the year and fans can expect plenty of fireworks in the rematch.

ROUGH WEEK FOR HIGH SCHOOL CAGERS

The Carmel High School basketball teams ran into tough opposition during the past week and were able to eke out only two victories in six games played. The amazing Padre lightweights upset Pacific Grove and Gilroy to provide the games on the right side of the ledger, but they were dumped by Monterey, 34 to 20. The Pacific Grove and Gilroy games were revenge tilts for the Padre lights as both these teams defeated the Carmel lads in early season games. Monterey had the revenge motive on their side and turned the tables on Dawson's boys.

An overconfident Padre varsity ran into a beehive at Gilroy and absorbed a 41-31 pasting from the Mustangs. On Tuesday afternoon in a friendly session at Monterey, the Monterey varsity hit their stride for the first time this season and put on a finished performance to outscore the Carmel varsity, 50 to 37. Both teams neglected to put up a defense and the game evolved into a free shooting affair.

This week the Padres travel to Boulder Creek on Friday night and then take a much needed rest until the Carmel tournament on February 27.

ROOFERS TOP BOYS' CLUB IN VILLAGE LEAGUE PLAY

Playing a steady ball control type of game the Frost Roofers proved again that they were the class of the Carmel Village League last Monday night. The Boys' Club provided the opposition for the leaders, but superior ball handling by the Frost boys overcame the valiant efforts of the Carmel kids. Nicky Albert, with 10 markers, led the winners in the scoring department, while Perry Brown and Richard Mulholland, with 12 and 11 respectively, topped the Carmel scorers. Max Hodges, Boys' Club pivot, played a rugged game under the boards and was largely instrumental in holding the potent Frost outfit to a 38-31 victory.

PADRE VARSITY LOSES GAME TO PACIFIC GROVE

With the championship of the CCAL B division in the balance, the Carmel High School varsity basketball team again ran into too much. Bob Toole and were downed by the Pacific Grove five, 29 to 25. Toole, the class of all CCAL cagers, toyed with the small Padre quintet and assured the Breakers of game control for the complete contest. When the locals threatened to pull the game out of the fire in the last quarter, Mr. Toole engineered a stall which ate up the remaining time and assured the PG victory. The Padres matched the taller Pacific Grove players in the field goal department, but the Breakers cashed in at the free throw line to give them the margin for victory. While the Carmel lads hit one free throw out of nine attempts, the Breakers tanked five out of 12 chances.

Lee Winslow, playing his best game of the current season, led the Carmel scorers with 10 points. Lee played an outstanding floor game and managed to keep the Pacific Grove defense well scattered. Tom Handley was a bulwark on defense and was largely instrumental in holding down the vaunted Pacific Grove offense.

The Padre Babes finally turned in a victory over a Pacific Grove lightweight team. This is the first time a Carmel lightweight team has scored a win over a Breaker limited five. Lion's share of the credit for the win goes to Herman Menezes who played his best game of the season. Not only did Herman turn in a fine defensive game, but his 12 points from the floor turned the tide in favor of the local Babes. Walt Frey closely followed Herman in the point-getting department when he connected for 11 markers. Playing as though they expected to be beaten again all through the first half the Carmel lights were trailing 14 to 7 at the midway point. During the second half the locals came to life and completely outplayed the favored Breaker Babes. Third quarter score found PG in front 18 to 17, but the Padres were coming fast. Final score: Carmel 27, PG 21, a sweet victory for the little Padres. Playing for the Carmel lightweights and points scored: Herman Menezes (captain) 12, Bob Burgess, Keith McKenzie, Lee Laugenour 3, Walt Frey 11, Steve Whitaker, and Pat Dormody.

Varsity players and points scored: Lee Winslow (captain) 10, Lew McCreery 2, Dick Garguilo 5, Jim Hare 2, Dick Weer, Gene Vandervort, Phil Wettengel 4, Tom Handley, and Frank Timmins 2.

William P. Silva

William P. Silva, 89, died at his home on San Antonio near Ocean Avenue at 11:30 Tuesday morning, February 10, after several weeks of illness. He was a native of Savannah, Georgia, and had spent some years in Chattanooga as manager of his family's china business, while he developed an avocation as a painter. In his early forties he retired and went to Europe in order to devote the rest of his life to landscape painting.

For 49 years he enjoyed recognition in this field, having been acclaimed as early as his student days at the Julian Academy in Paris. He exhibited throughout Europe and his work has been in the permanent collection of the Luxembourg Museum and other galleries for many years.

Before 1910 he made his home in Carmel, founding the Carmelita Gallery to which artists and others have pilgrimaged, and he was an active member of the Carmel Art Association, exhibiting at the Art Gallery steadily through the years. His one-man show held there recently won him new appreciation.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ruth Lewis Silva, by his son, Abbott Silva, both of Carmel; by a sister, Mrs. Mary Teasdale, and a brother, Frank Silva, both of Georgia. The Paul Mortuary made "Everything Is A Problem From A Wornout Shoe Lace To What One Can Possibly Find To Eat . . ."

The following is a letter from one of the European ornithologists to whom a Monterey Peninsula ornithologist has been sending packages:

With the present very bad state of food your package appeared like a lifeboat on a stormy sea. We thank you with our whole hearts for that very important fat, the wonderful delicatessens, the sugar, the chocolate and the clothing. We don't really know how we can thank you for those blessings with which you have showered us in these last months. We still hope that some day conditions may allow us personally to take you by the hand. I have a great desire sometime to be able to study American birdlife, especially the songs. All the more since an ornithological friend has returned from being a prisoner of war in America. He talks most enthusiastically. He had three years in the States working as a farm hand and therefore had good opportunity to observe out of doors. Also he traveled widely from south to north. The Great Salt Lake especially impressed him.

With us, as yet, all is very difficult. Travel on the over-crowded trains is no pleasure; the windows are all broken so that it is very cold. The winter has already begun and snow lies on the mountains. We have great anxiety for the winter here in the highlands for there is no coal. All summer we zealously gathered wood, but our supply is not enough so we hope before the winter is over to be able to buy a little. Formerly these were all little problems—one ordered coal from the coal man or wood, and paid no attention, and when it was gone ordered more. Now everything is a problem from a wornout shoelace to what one can possibly find to eat. Even the potatoes are very scarce. All winter there are no vegetables and only

The following citations are included in the sermon:

Psalms: "As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him. It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect" (18:30, 32).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The sun is not affected by the revolution of the earth. So Science reveals Soul as God, untouched by sin and death,—as the central Life and intelligence around which circle harmoniously all things in the systems of Mind" (p. 310).

once have we had an allotment of fruit, four pounds of small green apples for all of us! Therefore many people who have time and boldness travel to Wurtensburg to try to gather provisions from the farmers. If they have luck and what they have managed to get is not taken away from them by the police they arrive home half-dead with their sack after hanging on to the roof or the steps of the train. I am no longer young or strong enough for such adventures. Besides I have too much work to do to be able to spare the time. The lightest everyday task has become a burden. How difficult it was to make colored illustrations for my big work! The colors to paint with I scraped together by begging. For a little dab of Chinese white I had to give a whole month's cigarette ration and in addition to pay a horrible price. Paper for pen and ink drawing I obtained in a similar way and then at last I could start to paint. When I had to go to Munich to look at a collection of specimens I found it in a single room, box on box, piled to the ceiling just as it had come from the air-raid shelter. Acrobatics were necessary to get a single box from this tower of Babel. As I had no potato ration I could not eat during all this work and then had to hurry to get to the station two hours before train time to get a seat for the journey home. When one is safe and sound at home and sits down to work at the desk the lights go off, or they flicker so as to ruin one's eyesight. Because we had a drought in the summer and fall the water reserve is not enough to make electric current. The power is on only three or four days a week, and we have no candles and few matches so we sit in the dark half the winter.

You could write a novel about life today in Germany, the country of limited possibilities, where because of a missing pants button economic catastrophe can happen. We are very curious to see how everything will go, for soon almost no one will be able to work, when he has neither shoes nor food. We have great hopes for help through the Marshall plan, though many economists see their last hope buried as a consequence of the dismantling of the factories.

I, personally, am sad that the printing of books goes so slowly. I was forbidden to publish during the Nazi regime—and a writer does want to see his things in print once in a while! I had hoped to be able to publish the accumulated manuscripts after the war. But when one of the books started to be published last winter, then came the coal shortage and the presses could not run. Now after almost a year I have got a first proof and the bindery cannot run because there is no electricity! I had so much wanted to send you a copy for Christmas, but now I cannot say when you will get it. I am sorry.

We will think of you with love and gratefulness at Christmas, happy that by your help we have so far escaped the hunger diseases. How poor are the promises of politicians and how wonderful in contrast the friendly deeds of love of our American colleagues. All decent Germans will do their very best within the limits of possibility to show the world that they are not useless. We will try to do our bit on the intellectual and scientific levels. The interest in spiritual things has grown very much through material lacks and needs. The people are hungry for spiritual as well as for bodily fare, and are not satisfied with cheap phrases and sham but want to go into the fundamentals of everything. I notice this very much in the reaction of the audience at the lectures I give at the Peoples College (a forum.)

You don't mind taking the burdens of the daily grind when you know that you can give people something. Now once again our heartfelt thanks.—Dr. H. F.

Date For Second Symphony Concert Changed To Feb. 24

The second program of the current season by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra will be held at the Sunset Auditorium on Tuesday evening, February 24, at 8:15 o'clock. The originally announced date of February 25 has been changed because of a conflict.

Camille Olaete, pianist, will appear as soloist with the orchestra, which is under the joint direction of Lorell McCann and Clifford Anderson. The orchestra has been rehearsing intensively since early fall, and the conductors and those who have observed rehearsals feel that notable progress has been made in the integration of the group.

Mr. Anderson is head of the music department of the Monterey schools. He is a native Californian who received his education at Humboldt State College and the University of California. As a violinist, he studied under the Russian teacher, L. Jousenen, who was later concertmaster of the St. Petersburg Symphony in Russia. From 1934 to 1945 he was assistant concertmaster of the Santa Rosa Symphony Orchestra.

During 1945 and 1946 Mr. Anderson organized and conducted a small orchestra on the Peninsula.

The Andersons have two children, a boy and a girl, and at present Mr. Anderson is continuing privately his studies in harmony and orchestration. Recently, his favorite project apart from the Symphony has been the planning of the new music building for the Monterey school system, which will provide first-rate facilities for all branches of school music.

Music Society Presents Thibaud Tuesday Evening

The Carmel Music Society presents Jacques Thibaud, world renowned violinist, in the second concert of their twenty-first season, at Sunset Auditorium, Tuesday evening, February 17.

After an absence of 13 years, Thibaud is making a succession of triumphant appearances in the United States. As soloist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony, at Carnegie Hall he shared the spotlight with Leopold Stokowski. Since then, besides his regular concert work, he has been appearing with all the outstanding symphony orchestras throughout the country.

Mr. Thibaud's art and personality speak for themselves. He gave two sons and risked death in underground work during the war. He is the only musician ever to re-

Public Invited To Opening Of New Naval School

Rear Admiral D. B. Beary, USN, commandant of the 12th Naval District, with headquarters in San Francisco, will be the principal speaker at the ceremony officially opening the Monterey Naval General Line School at 3:00 p. m., Saturday, February 28, in the main dining room of the former Del Monte Hotel.

Captain Frank T. Watkins, USN, commanding officer, has also invited S. F. B. Morse, chairman of the board of directors of the Del Monte Properties Company, Captain H. A. Spanagel, USN, superintendent of Navy postgraduate schools, to participate in the program, which will be witnessed by many civic leaders and state, county and city officials. Music will be furnished by the Fort Ord band and the public is invited to attend.

No, it hasn't always been easy, here of late, to be absolutely sure just which way automobile design was heading.

So it's a refreshing thing, people tell us, to see one car that quite clearly knows where it's going — and shows it inside and out.

You can't mistake this poised and ready fashion plate for anything but a Buick — you're sure from a glance that you'll find it steady as a battle cruiser and full of ginger as one of Grandma's cookies.

A broad bonnet promises plenty-power—and you get it with such velvety new smoothness that you need to check the battery-charge needle to make sure the engine's running.

You size it up as comfortable. The road's verdict is that it's the most tireless car on the market, what with four coil springs, pillowy low-pressure tires and a wholly new attack on car vibration keeping you fresh through the longest day.

You find quiet here — quiet that encourages conversation — quiet from Sound-Sorber top lining that invites conversation in normal tones.

And if it's a Dynaflo Roadmaster you're handling, here you can sample driving ease that is near magic in its simplicity.

You set a lever, press the gas treadle — and simply steer. The power plant does all the rest — swoops you up from standstill to full pace, accelerates, climbs, slows to a stop, starts up again — all without any gearshifting, either manual or automatic!

So it's pretty plain where this one's heading — it's going even higher in the regard of the motoring public.

Why not see your Buick dealer now and get your order in?

In Buick's new Dynaflo Drive, sliding gear transmissions and complex gear-changers are made unnecessary. You simply set a selector lever and step on the gas. You start up — accelerate — climb hills — cruise — stop — start up again — all without touching the selector lever.

SUNSET SCHOOL NOTES

Pre-Election Activities

Sunset School was a-buzz with color for almost a week. There have been balloons flying with candidates names on them and smart little "watch birds" watched the children to see that they voted for the chosen candidate. There were bright-colored caps, posters and lapel pins everywhere. Seventh graders mingled with children of the lower grades to get votes and to give out lapel pins advertising their names. A large sandwich sign was made by two candidates. Posters were shifted from room to room, and several flower pots contained plants with paper leaves bearing the names of all the students running for office. All in all, I think it was very good electioneering for the second semester.

—Barbara Reyburn.

Just Like Mom and Pop!

The students at Sunset have just had a brand new experience! It was voting in a booth. Usually the ballots are sent around to the rooms where they are given to the students. This year the sixth and seventh grades voted in a booth during the noon hour. The booth was made by Arthur Page, Jack Hilgers and Mike Ricketts. Inside there was a table and a chair and on the table was a rubber stamp and an ink pad. As each person entered the booth he was handed a ballot by John Stewart. Judy Harget then crossed out each person's name to show that he had voted. There were many posters put up around the school, but when it came time for voting they were taken down. This new method proved very satisfactory as only one person failed to vote and only one ballot was not marked correctly and had to be thrown away.

—Gray Burnham.

Election Results

As a result of Tuesday's election the following students will be sworn into office at the next regular meeting, February 20: President, Carole Byers; vice-president, Pat Chedester; secretary, Mary Adams; treasurer, Barbara Reyburn; sports manager, Fred Askew.—Gay Masten.

Ve-ry Funny!

When Mary Adams, candidate for secretary, made her campaign speech for the student body, she had the girls and boys almost rolling in the aisles with laughter. Mary got up and said, "My name is ah-um-ah." Her friend, Janet Grafft helped her out by saying, "Mary Adams." Mary looked relieved and said, "Oh, yes, my name is Mary Adams and I am running for the office of -um-ah." There she was, acting like she was stuck again! So her faithful pal, Janet, piped up again and said, "Secretary." Mary brightened and said, "Yes, that's right, for the office of secretary. I may act dumb, but I can write well. I thank you." Mary is now secretary of the Sunset School Student Body for the second semester.—Ruth Pullman.

Student Court

Sunset School's Student Court met in Miss Norman's room last Tuesday at 1:00 o'clock. Ten students were tried for disobeying playground and lunch room rules. They were given penalties according to the seriousness of their offenses.

Richard Tocher, judge of the student court, has moved away to Berkeley, so Howard Taggart of the sixth grade acted as substitute at the last meeting of the semester.—Janet Grafft.

A Going-Away Party

The seventh grade girls gave Lynn Campbell a farewell surprise party the night before she left for Menlo Park. It was held at Carole Byers' house and Carole, Pat Chedester and Mary Adams were hostesses. As soon as Lynn arrived at the party she was presented with an overnight bag, a gift from all the girls. A buffet dinner was served and then everyone went to Pacific Grove where they spent the evening skating.

Mrs. Wurzmann's Concert Gives Great Pleasure At Church Party

By HARRIET ROBERTS

The Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Episcopal Church gave a pre-Valentine party last Wednesday to the choir and to those members of the auxiliary whose work prevents their coming to the day-time meetings. The Parish House, with the light from red candles and a huge open fire of logs playing on a great golden harp which stood against a background of many flowering shrubs, seemed both festive and homelike. Coffee, sandwiches and cheese were served from a table whose green cloth was decorated with St. Valentine's hearts in red.

But what made the party one of the most memorable which the auxiliary has ever given was the well-chosen, beautifully rendered little concert generously given by Marjorie Legge Wurzmann on the piano and Elizabeth Welbourn Seccombe on the harp.

Some years ago the Welsh novelist, Hilda Vaughan, (wife of Charles Morgan, author of The Fountain) visited here. In a recent letter she spoke of how much she still missed the beauties of the Peninsula and added, "And how much I wish I could again listen to Mrs. Wurzmann's beautiful playing of Brahms." If a magic carpet could have brought her here she would have been even more delighted, for Marjorie Wurzmann is one of those satisfying artists whose work continually increases in depth of understanding and sureness and sensitiveness of rendering. On Wednesday evening she began with two Bach numbers, the chorale, Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, and a Gigue from a French suite. The heavenly gaiety of a Mozart Sonata followed and, as an encore, the exquisitely lilting measures of a Rondeau, Soeur Monique, by Couperin.

Mrs. Seccombe then played part of Handel's Harmonious Blacksmith, an air with variations. She was particularly successful with those deep notes which many people never expect from the harp. Debussy's Girl With the Flaxen Hair, and Carlo Salzedo's Zephyrs were both peculiarly suited to the harp. Mrs. Seccombe ended with Chopin's Prelude in C Minor.

The latter half of Mrs. Wurzmann's program consisted of an Intermezzo by Brahms whose wistful beauty she was particularly successful in interpreting. Then came a beautiful Impromptu by Schubert. Her audience was taken next into the magical world of Debussy with Sails and a Prelude from a Piano Suite. The concert ended with two Chopin compositions, a Nocturne and a Prelude, in which the contrast of the lyrical tenderness of the Nocturne with the "rattle and dash of horses flying hard" of the Prelude was well shown. As an encore Mrs. Wurzmann played Brahms again, a beautiful Intermezzo.

Hi Chatter

By PEGGY RIKER

In commemoration of Lincoln's birthday, Carmel High School students received a welcome holiday Thursday as everyone, students and teachers alike, took the day off to enjoy themselves.

Wednesday the student body gathered in the cafeteria to hear a Lincoln day address delivered by Dr. Edward O. Sisson. An annual event, the assembly was not only a source of enjoyment but also of useful information.

On Saturday, February 14, the Carmel Village All-Stars will play a basketball game with the All-American Sports, a professional team from Santa Barbara. This is a benefit for the Carmel Boys' Club, which will play a preliminary game with the Monterey Boys' Club. Admission will be 50 cents for students and $1 for adults. These contests should both be exciting and as it's a worthy cause, come and bring your friends.

The Girls' League elected officers for the coming term during which they plan to be very active, holding a Hi Jinx and several equally ambitious affairs. Under the guidance of Joan Harrington, president; Betty Plaxton, vice-president; Janice Hatton, secretary, and Dolara Sharpe, treasurer, the Girls' League is fast becoming one of the most popular organizations on the campus.

The Valentine's party to be held this Saturday from 7:30 to 10:00 in the cafeteria promises to be one of the gayest parties of eighth grade social season. The affair is being managed by several committee heads: decoration, Collette Ferguson; reception, Ann Sparr; refreshment, Alan Reyburn; entertainment, Sue McCloud; clean-up, Walt Shaw; and planning committee, Julia Graves.

Mary Grant

Mary W. Grant died at Community Hospital Annex February 10 after having resided on Hatton Road for the past 20 years. She is survived by her sister, Miss Ann S. Grant. She was a native of San Francisco, a cousin of Seth Low of New York, and was an active worker in the All Saints' Parish. During the war and until shortly before her death she did an outstanding job in the production room of the Carmel Red Cross, making hundreds of garments for shipment to the needy abroad.

Services will be held at 11:00 a. m., tomorrow, February 14, from the Mission Mortuary in Monterey, the Rev. Alfred B. Seccombe officiating. Interment will take place in the Monterey City Cemetery, and friends are requested to omit flowers.

Alternative Route Is Suggested In "Straight Shoot" To Valley Discussion

Editor of The Pine Cone:

February 12, 1948.

The new approach from Carmel to the Valley is a good idea, but the objections offered by Mrs. Ball in last week's Pine Cone are decidedly sound. The safety hazard at Mountain View, Junipero, and Ocean Avenue, especially for young people going up to the high school and for children coming down the hill to Sunset, can't be overemphasized. Add the very expensive bridge over the canyon when Mountain View stops, and the plan seems just impractical.

But why not an alternative route? The road out could leave Junipero at Eleventh street where a narrow lane skirts the swamp and turns into a trail at the narrow mouth of the canyon, then skirt the hill beyond, rising gradually to join Hatton Road. A dip under the highway a short distance south of where the proposed road would cut under would take it a bit closer to the Valley road after it has left the highway. This route would necessitate a low fill along the edge of the swamp, widening the lane, perhaps cutting back a few feet of the bluff along the north line of the old Carnegie Laboratory property, a small concrete conduit at the canyon mouth for normal drainage of the swamp—which has been drier this fall than I had seen it in the previous 35 years—and the fill up to Junipero, which also had to be filled at this point. Motorists coming in at Eleventh could continue to Mission, San Carlos, or Dolores to reach the business district, or could cross over at Tenth—as yet ungraded—at Eighth or Seventh, completely by-passing the corner at Ocean, Junipero, and Mountain View. This should be a much less expensive route than the one by Mountain View, as well as eliminating the dangerous traffic hazard.

Yours, L. Lucile Turner.

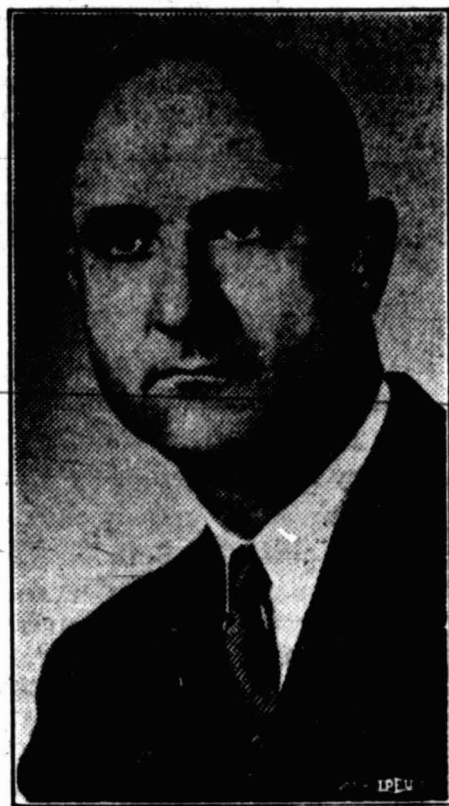

February 8, 1948.

Dear Mrs. Cook:

I, too, object very much to the idea of turning Mountain View into a direct entrance to Carmel Valley. As I see it, all that would be gained would be a few minutes' time saved for motorists. I cannot believe that the few minutes shaved off the length of time it takes to reach the Carmel Valley Road is important enough for the expense of the proposed Mountain View project. I do not believe it important enough to justify ruining Eighty Acres as a residential area. This corner of town is at present one of the most desirable to live in, since it is somewhat isolated from the rest of town. If a speedway to Carmel Valley were cut through here, it would be no more desirable a place to live than the lots along Ocean Avenue. Mrs. Ball mentioned the danger of such a road intersecting Ocean Avenue as it does. I would like to add that the intersection of Ocean Avenue, Junipero, and Mountain View is right now a difficult one to cross at times. I hate to think what it would be like if Mountain View had any more traffic than it has right now. So, since the cutting through of Mountain View would do more harm than good, and the present entrances to Carmel Valley are perfectly satisfactory, why not keep the status quo? Surely no one but a maniac could be in such a tearing hurry, anyway.

Yours truly, Carol Card.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Phone Carmel 1.

George Outland, former Congressman from this district, will be pitted against the jinx of February 13, when he speaks before the Carmel Democratic Women's Club on that date at the Sunset School lunch room at 8 p. m. Mr. Outland, who was an outstanding educator before he entered public life, is now professor of government and political sciences at the San Jose State College where he has large and enthusiastic classes.

He will speak on Democratic Principles in California. He is chairman of the platform committee of the Democratic party of this State and it was he who framed the state policy platform for the party. Mr. Outland has also been chosen as a delegate to the National Democratic convention.

Mrs. Millard Klein, president of the club, will preside. The public is invited to attend.

NORRIS TO ADDRESS CLASS

Thomas Wayne Norris, Carmel's official representative to the California Centennial Arrangements Committee, will be the guest of Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's current literature group at 7:30 Tuesday evening, February 17, in Room 11 of Sunset School. Mr. Norris is a collector of Californiana and he will discuss Bret Harte and his times, exhibiting some of the rare manuscripts and personal letters which have made the literary history of early California. Visitors are welcome to attend.

Aboriginal Annie has reached the height of her social career—if those neck ringlets mean anything. There just isn't "room for just one more."

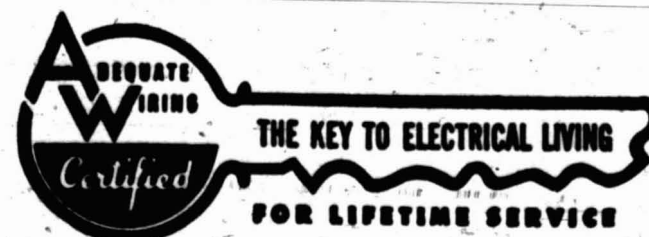

And likewise, a good many of today's homes—even the new ones—have reached the height of their electrical careers, simply because they are so inadequately wired. There just isn't room for one more electrical appliance without overloading the circuits and blowing fuses.

If you plan to build or modernize your home, insist on Adequate Wiring to guarantee yourself maximum comfort and convenience in this era of electrical living.

To insure peak operating efficiency of all your appliances, "Adequate Wiring" requires:
enough switches
enough electric outlets enough circuits heavy enough wire throughout

The Time Has Come . .

By KIPPY STUART

Have you ever tried to raise snapdragon and stock? These two old fashioned garden flowers have been streamlined to such an extent that they barely resemble the ones of our grandmother's day. The hybridized snapdragon towers above the original plant and now grows two and one half feet tall. There are several varieties: Majus Grandiflora, Moxium and Tetra. And since this is California, with a touch of Hollywood, there is one called Rust Resistant Super Majestic! They all produce superior flowers.

Rust is the deadly enemy of snapdragons. Rust is a fungus that spatters the plant with brown spots, eating into the heart of the plant, and long before maturity, stalks look like moth-eaten sticks. Scientists have worked hard to overcome rust and have succeeded to a degree. However, if not protected properly, all varieties revert to rust. Plant snapdragons in full sun and never water stalks or tops, for this is the surest way to produce rust. Keep foliage dry, and in full sunlight; let hose run gently on roots. Snapdragons do not like to spend the night with soggy feet. Snapdragons blend well with other plants. Can you imagine a corner banked with tall delphiniums with a row of perennial stock in front, both looking down on a bed of these super snapdragons? It makes my mouth water just to imagine such a display. Our local nurseries are now offering these new varieties of snapdragons for bedding plants.

Stock is one of those temperamental plants that defy the gardener. Stock does not like heat—stock does not like moisture and I might go on and on, but I'll just say that "stock does not like . . ." period. Beginners may have glorious success with their first planting of stock and if this is the case, I advise that you remain a beginning gardener. I have a fiendish time raising proper stock. Just the same, stock can be raised locally the year around. If you can get stock to stand on its own feet during the first few weeks, and if you are successful in nursing it through its teething period, all will be well. Once established, stock can take care of itself. Wait a minute! What am I saying? The gardener is never through protecting stock!

This plant seems to have invisible antenna that wave about searching for all the pests in the garden. One day the plant will be sweet and clean; the very next day it will be host to everything unwanted that is loose in the locality. Stock is a fast worker when it comes to accumulating red spider, aphid and thrip. But one application of a good nicotine spray, if given in time, will restore the plants immediately.

Just remember that stock abominates water. Even the small plants should be forced to scream for water. Let em scream, and rather than apply water, shield young plants from too hot sun. Stock likes full sun and sunlight helps prevent pests. I keep seven beds of stock going all the time, and like sweetpeas, an average of these beds produce. Oh my, what a time I have had raising stock!

Plans were being completed this week for the piano recital to be presented at the Golden Bough Playhouse by the Musical Art Club at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, February 15, featuring a talented young artist, Mary Reese. The program, open without charge to members of the club and their guests who present guest cards, includes:

Andante con Variazioni, Haydn; Toccata in A, Paradies; Capriccio, Scarlatti; Sonata in A, Scarlatti. Prelude and Chorale, from Prelude, Chorale and Fugue, Franck.

Two Waltzes, Chopin; Etude in D Flat Major, Chopin; Nocturne in C Minor, Chopin.

Voiles, Debussy; La Cathedrale Engloutie, Debussy, and Feu d'Artifice, Debussy.

Miss Reese has been appearing publicly since about the age of five years, and at a tender age reached the semi-finals of the Glendale Symphony competition. She has also played with the Pasadena Civic Symphony, and appeared with the San Fernando Valley Symphony at the age of 14. Miss Reese is now 15 years old.

VALLEY DANCE

Carmel Valley's Farm Center Social and Athletic Club went gay last week with a full fledged five-piece orchestra and all the people round about joined in for energetic dancing, sustained by coffee and cake.

ZION AND BRYCE NEXT

Next Monday evening the subject of the Nature Appreciation travelog to be given by C. Edward Graves will be Zion and Bryce Canyon National Parks. These are two of the most colorful of all the national parks and lend themselves especially well to color photography. The programs are given at the Sunset School auditorium from 7:30 to 9:30 with a ten minute intermission. There is no admission charge.

On February 23, which is a school holiday, there will be no program given in this series. The eighth program in the series of ten will be given on March 1.

NEW OIL SHOW

For the last two weeks in February there will be a small oil show at the Carmel Art Gallery hung where the Maxine Albro show is now displayed. The jury will be Arthur Hill Gilbert, chairman, and Kent Daniels and Dorothy Walgren. All artists are asked to have their canvases in by 5:00 p. m., Saturday.

On Sunday, from 3:00 to 6:00 p. m., there will be a tea to honor the new oils. Mrs. Robert Doolittle will be chairman of the day, and hostesses will be Miss Florence True, Maxine Albro, Mrs. Armin Hansen, Mrs. Laurids Jorgenson, Mrs. Arne F. Halle, Gene Francis McComas, Mrs. Louise Gribben, Mrs. George Seideneck, Mrs. Kathryn Bradley, Mrs. J. B. McCarthy. The tea will be for all gallery members and their guests.

We've put in 2 1/4 MILLION TELEPHONES since V-J Day

1. We had to break records...and we did. To-day we're serving over one-fourth more telephones than at the war's end—a net gain of three-quarters of a million. And, since every day many customers move, we actually had to install more than two and a quarter million telephones to make this gain.

2. Complex splices like this—thousands of them—went into the two million miles of wire we've put in. And that's only part of the story—more than 200 new buildings or additions...complex new switching equipment in almost all our buildings...these and other facilities are being added in the face of sharply rising costs and tough supply problems.

3. We're still working against time. Orders continue to flood in. To fill service needs we're adding facilities at the rate of more than half a million dollars a day—every day. A huge investment, yes. But telephones have been going in as never before in the West. And as the system grows, your telephone service becomes more valuable still.

4. Where does the money come from...millions of new working dollars needed to extend and improve service? Millions must come, not from telephone bills, but from thousands of people who put their savings to work in the telephone business. To attract these working dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use. This requires the sale of our services at fair and adequate prices.

Have You Read . . . ?

By E. C. SHERBURNE

(Letters of J. M. Barrie, Edited by Viola Meynell. Charles Scribner's Sons.)

One can be grateful for a good biography, such as Denis Mackail's Barrie. But better is Barrie's autobiography, The Greenwood Hat, fragmentary though it may be. Best of all are his Letters as a portrait. For here nothing of a biographer's personality creeps between reader and subject; and often Barrie puts aside masks of his feelings.

Clue to all this is in one of his letters to Lady Cynthia Asquith, for many years his secretary: "I fancy I try to create an artificial world to myself because the one I could do any good in becomes too sombre. How doggedly my pen searches for gaiety."

One letter tells of a pact made with Elisabeth Bergner, star of The Boy David, that there should be no bitterness over the cool reception of his last play by much of the press. Earlier, on hearing that Walkley was giving up dramatic criticism on The Times, Barrie wrote: "In my little corner as a playwright you were my great encouragement; it was certainly mainly because of you and Archer that I went on with it. . . ."

"No interviews," he declared at all times. But as a characteristic joke he provided a New York newspaperman with a supposed interview with his manservant, to the horror of that worthy person because of the article's uncomplimentary references to his employer. With relish Barrie tells of the anonymous philippic he wrote against J. M. B. for Henley's paper with the result that "some of my admirers were so indignant that they withdrew their subscriptions."

Viola Meynell writes in her introduction: "The reader must expect to find this a very private collection of letters in the sense that they deal little with public affairs." We learn much of Barrie's reading tastes, his dislike for re-reading his own writings, his nostalgia for Scotland, his keen appraisals of acting, his fondness for cricket.

Deep was his concern for the welfare and happiness of the members of the family circles that included him in their intimacies. He wrote pantomimes "for the pleasure of convulsing four-year-olds" with performances in their homes, taking the part of Cowardly Custard in one of them, and dragooning his writing friends for the casts.

Eagerly he accepted requests from those in his confidence to act as godfather to their children. To these youngsters and their mothers Barrie—ever the charmer—was more likely to write than to their fathers. He often refers to "my boys," as he called his adopted sons. Chesterton called him "The most diffident of men and the most impudent of artists." Yes, but Barrie, too, had a genius for tenderness. Read his Margaret Ogilvy, the biography of his mother. Or Farewell, Miss Julie Logan, that ineffable ghost story. And the Letters.

Appreciation of other writers runs in a bright thread of praise through letters to Hardy, Wells, Quiller-Couch, Priestley, and many more authors who called him friend. None of the letters that Stevenson and Meredith received from Barrie have turned up, but included in this book is a delectable two-page report of his imaginary encounter as a youth in Scotland with R. L. S.

Veiling the distresses of the last years of Barrie's life, there hovers in these pages the playfulness that had long endeared him to his readers. These have many choices of pleasure awaiting them among his sketches, stories and plays on the shelves of Harrison Memorial Library.

Have you read a new book that you feel is so good that you want your friends and neighbors to share with you the pleasure or information you derived from it? Or an old book that is dear to you . . . or a group of fine books on a special subject? Write 650 words about it for this column.

MERIDIAN

Soul, I remember your old name!
Sol, I worship beyond the eye symbol.
Sun, I take communion of you:
Suffer my body as bread,
Place on my lips your fire,
Cleanse me—
O white noontide
Of disinterest and love!
—DION O'DONNOL.

IN PRAISE OF LITTLE SINGERS

The glowworm bards, the winking wicks
Of poets frail as fireflies,
The quick-spent glimpse of candle-sticks
Burns in the dark and dies.

The dim light that is barely light,
This flicker of a flame half-seen
The poets tend and in man's sight
His way is new and clean.

He walks the straighter for the ray,
And he is taller for the beam
The little poets give away,
They keep only the dream.
—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

EVENING AT NOTRE DAME

The sunset spreads a gold translucent veil
Over the ivy on the convent wall—burnishing leaf and stem to copper mail, while drowsy swallows hush their evening call.
The Avenue is dim in half-light shade only the elm's high tops are washed in gold;
Our lady dreams in amber that will fade before the convent vesper bell is tolled.

The day is weary from its labors; soon the night will draw a curtaining of sleep;
above the convent rides the pale, full moon to count the homesick tears that children weep.
It is a lonely time at dusk to be companied by too sad a memory!
—HELEN HYDE JENSEN.

LEANING TREES OF MONTEREY

Leaning trees,
Wind-shaped trees
Cradled in root-tunneled rock.

Bend with the wind—
Bend with the wind,
The moulding all cypress endures.

Lean as you grow—
Lean as you grow
Or crash in unyielding doom.

Timeless the strengthening,
Timeless the conquering,
Of the aged, wind-sculptured trees.
—E. MACDERMOTT JOHNSTON.

Carmel Story . . .

THE HOUSE OF MARTIN—CHAPTER VI.

By DAISY BOSTICK

Family names seemed to repeat themselves in the Martin family, but when John Martin's fifth son first saw light, the names had all run out and it was necessary to go far afield in search of a suitable name for the young infant. But they found it almost at their front door. The Rio Carmelo was the most important part of their surroundings, so they anglicized the spelling and gave the name of Carmel to the new baby. The village of Carmel was born several years later and Carmel Martin humorously claims that the town of Carmel was really named for him. Be that as it may, the order of the naming was Carmel River, Carmel Martin and Carmel-by-the-Sea.

The first time I saw Carmel Martin was about 1910, when he read the entire Declaration of Independence at a Carmel Fourth of July celebration, where he was asked at the last moment to substitute for someone else who was supposed to be the speaker of the day. Even then the young man was showing the same qualities of helpfulness and co-operation which have distinguished him in the years following.

He was the only one of the boys to choose a professional career. He first prepared himself for teaching by attending the State Normal School in San Jose. After graduation, he taught in the Salinas valley and for a short time in Oregon. By this time he must have known more definitely which profession to choose, for he went east and took a law course at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Carmel Martin was always a baseball enthusiast and through his school and college career he played ball at every opportunity. In fact, he was so good a player that he received a flattering offer to join a professional team in Virginia. On the day of his graduation he left for the railroad station fully intent on leaving for his new job. While sitting in the station waiting for his train to arrive, he got to thinking what it would really mean to him to give up the profession for which he had for so many years been preparing. And a bad case of homesickness overtook him. All of a sudden he wanted most of all to see his people and the Monterey Peninsula again. Acting on impulse he went to the window, turned in the ticket which had been sent him from Virginia and bought a ticket for Monterey, California. Now he says ruefully:

"Well, when I managed to dig up enough money to pay for the ticket I had just $6.00 left to take care of me on that long trip home. But I managed to do it. I sat up all night and ate sparingly by day. If I hadn't had those six bucks I couldn't have made it and would probably have played ball for the remainder of my life."

And we might add that owing to that six dollars the Monterey Peninsula eventually gained a successful attorney and a fine citizen.

Upon returning home Martin strayed down a short bypath by becoming a real estate operator in one of the subdivisions being promoted near San Juan. Fred Treat and George Hudson were partners in a law firm in Monterey and when Carmel was through with his little fling at real estate he was invited to join the firm. So the reading on the office door became Treat, Hudson and Martin, the beginning of the very lucrative law practice which afterward added the name of Henry Jorgenson and is today the firm of Hudson, Martin, Ferrante and Street.

Carmel Martin has always held the affection and respect of the citizens of Monterey and has been elected and appointed to several responsible positions. He was the first mayor of Monterey to be elected by the people. He eventually married Lydia Wahl. They have four boys and a girl—Douglas, John, Stewart, Carmel Jr., and Ann. John, who was recently married, lives in Carmel.

Audience Enjoys Giesbert's Talk On Portraiture

The painting of a portrait, with the model on a low dais on the stage, provided entertainment, information, and interest for the audience at the Town Hall lecture last Friday night in Sunset auditorium, given by Edmund Giesbert, artist-member of the faculty of the Chicago Art Institute and also of the University of Chicago. The speaker was introduced by John Cunningham, Carmel artist.

Discussing art and portraiture, Mr. Giesbert touched upon the two problems involved, a likeness and art. The former, he insisted, involves the psychological acquaintance with the subject and the presentation of the real personality, a process which may take a long or a very short time. He admitted that he sometimes makes two portraits, one of which the sitter never sees; he further declared that the subject by no means desires a flattering portrait, but prefers a good picture.

Choosing from the audience his victim (Mrs. Lee Harbick), he seated her on the dais, arranged her pose, and then analyzed for the audience the rhythm of line and relation of colors, tested various effects in her costume, all the while sharing with the audience the artist's introductory problems for the painting. However, there was little of what he called the psychological approach, and one couldn't help wondering if that had not taken place before the lecture. Working rapidly, naming the colors he used for various parts of the portrait, from the first, very indefinite sketch in rhythmic lines, he carried his class of several hundred adults through all the steps to the finished portrait, injecting the why and how of each major stroke with the handful of brushes in his left hand.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE

OF CALIFORNIA SEND GREETING TO:

Frank D. Fallon and also all other persons unknown claiming any right, title, estate, lien, or interest in the real property described in the complaint adverse to plaintiffs' ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiffs' title thereto.

Defendants.
You are hereby directed to appear and answer the complaint in an action entitled as above, brought against you in the Superior Court of the County of Monterey, State of California, within ten days after the service upon you of this summons, if served within this county; or within thirty days if served elsewhere.

The purpose of said action is to quiet the title to the premises and real estate described in the Complaint in said action and hereinafter described, and to determine all and every claim, right, title, estate, lien, or interest of the said defendants, or either or any of them, in the real property described in the complaint adverse to the said plaintiffs; that it be decreed and adjudged by decree of said Court that the said plaintiffs, Mary F. C. Williams, Lawrence E. Williams, Cecelia V. Williams, James T. Williams and Barbara Williams, are the owners in fee of the real property hereinafter described, and that the defendants, nor any of them, have no estate, right, title, or interest whatsoever, nor any lien upon or lien or claim against said premises and land, or any part thereof, or any cloud upon plaintiffs' title thereto; that the defendants, each and all of them, their agents, servants, and all other persons claiming by, through, or under them, or any of them, be forever enjoined and restrained from asserting any right, title, estate, lien, or interest in or any cloud upon the real property described in said complaint and hereinafter described, or any part thereof, and for such other and further relief as to said Court shall seem meet and agreeable to equity, and for their costs of suit.

The premises affected by this suit and described in said complaint, are situated in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, County of Monterey, State of California, and particularly described as follows, to wit:

Lot Sixteen (16) in Block Fifty-two (52) as said lot and block are shown on map of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, on file in the office of the County Recorder of Monterey County, California, in Vol. 1 of maps, "Cities and Towns," at page 2 therein.

AND YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED THAT unless you appear and answer as above required, the said plaintiffs will take judgment for any money or damage demanded in the Complaint as arising upon contract, or they will apply to the Court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

GIVEN UNDER my hand, and the seal of the Superior Court of the County of Monterey, State of California, this 11th day of December, 1947.

Stoner-Maloney Wedding

At a Church of the Wayfarer ceremony, officiated by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, Miss Betty Lou Stoner, daughter of Roscoe F. Stoner and the late Mrs. Stoner of Coheville, Wyoming, became the bride of J. Brown Maloney of Fresno and Sacramento. Mr. Maloney is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Maloney who live on Scenic Drive in Carmel.

The ceremony took place last Monday afternoon at 1:30, witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Heron of Carmel. The bride wore a beige bolero type suit with black accessories, and white straw sailor hat; her flowers were orchids.

The groom is the personnel director of the McClatchy newspaper syndicate which includes the Fresno Bee, Modesto Bee, and radio stations in Sacramento, Fresno, Reno, Stockton, and Bakersfield. Before becoming personnel director Mr. Maloney was on the editorial staff of the Fresno Bee for nine years. His great-grandfather, James McClatchy, founded the Sacramento Bee in 1857, and his grandfather edited the paper for 50 years. Mrs. Maloney had been associated with KFBK, part of the radio syndicate in Sacramento, and the couple will make their home there.

Hollow Hills Farm Tea

Noel Sullivan served tea at his home in the Carmel Valley, Hollow Hills Farm, last Sunday afternoon to entertain Mrs. Harry Crowe, mother of Lee Crowe, and Miss Anna Purdy, who have just arrived from Nova Scotia. They will make their home with Mr. Crowe in the Carmel Valley. About two dozen guests were invited by Mr. Sullivan to meet them.

Annual Lodge Visit

Arriving for his annual Peninsula visit is Frank T. Heffelfinger of Minneapolis, who makes his home at the Lodge when here and is always gaily entertained by his numerous friends. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tevis have begun his entertainment by already inviting a few friends in to dinner in his honor.

Translator Teaches

Luke Seros, who came in to offer his translating services to a Greek letter recipient, is going to teach modern Greek to the military personnel at the Presidio of Monterey Army Language School. Mr. Seros has but recently returned from Greece to this country.

Snow Notes

Back from a month's trip through Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Tucson are Julia Tappan and Anne Raymond of Monterey, who report clear, brisk, sunny weather in New Mexico all the time of their stay. Then comes a dark story of leaving in a flurry of cold, and a terrifying tale of a two-pronged storm, from the east, from the west, meeting on the Rio Grande and forming a beautiful but terrible winding, roaring river of snow. And it was cold in Yuma, cold in San Diego, in fact, they say, they brought snow with them all the way to Monterey.

More Snow News

Mrs. J. W. Bailey, mother of Mrs. R. L. Snyder of Pacific Grove, has been visiting here a few weeks from Virginia Beach, Virginia. Amusingly enough, she tells, Virginia Beach, advertised by its local chamber of commerce as a year round resort, has had snow ever since December 1. And all the way to California, no land at all, nothing but snow.

P. S. To Rumor

That current rumor that has been chasing itself about of Jean Varda's marriage has been killed dead in its tracks and Mr. Varda continues to teach at the California School of Fine Arts, unmarried, not even engaged. Virginia Varda is going to sell the wonderful barn on Hawthorne street, and one of these days there will be no more gatherings around the central fireplace, no more leaps from the balcony, no more sun baths or star baths on the tall Greek tower.

Hail On The Hill

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Brennan couldn't keep the hail and rain out of the tent they've tossed up on Huckleberry Hill, planning to live in the canvas contraption until their new home is built.

Enjoying after-storm sunlight were Remo Scardigli and Nancy Tackett Sunday relaxing on Pacific Grove's golden shores and maybe getting an ever so slight coating of tan.

Peggy Archer Returns

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Doud are expecting the Sunday arrival of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Shreve McLaren Archer, Jr., from their home in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Los Angeles Week

Pat Wall returned to the Peninsula Saturday night after leaving the first of February for a good long week in Los Angeles. Mr. Wall stayed with Bernard and Helena Rosenthal in Los Angeles, where they are making plans to build a new home in Malibu. Mr. Rosenthal displayed his sculpture last September on the Peninsula at the same time that a show of Varda collages opened, and he is now showing at the Associated American Artists gallery, where there was a recent opening of Picasso lithographs which Mr. Wall and his friends attended. Mr. Wall completed his Los Angeles art notes with a visit to the Hatfield Gallery at the Ambassador Hotel where a splendid show of modern French painters was on display, with new Braques and Segonzacs among the artists hung. After an interesting chat with Dalziel Hatfield, Mr. Wall visited some of his artist friends and returned to Monterey.

Entertainment For Admiral

Commander and Mrs. Philip Mothersill are entertaining Mrs. Mothersill's parents, Admiral and Mrs. John Downes of Chicago, at the Hotel Del Monte. There will be a Saturday luncheon for them at the Cypress Point Club, and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Morse are giving a dinner in their honor Friday night.

Chicagoans Here

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Heller of Chicago entertained their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ettlinger of Oakland over the weekend at the Carmel Valley Inn, where they are staying.

A LOOK AT THE PAST and into the FUTURE

TO KEEP PACE with the development of the Monterey Peninsula, your water company, during eleven months of 1947, added 921 new services and made gross additions to its physical plant amounting to approximately $615,000.

Besides innumerable jobs of various types, construction included the erection of a new filter plant with accessory buildings and equipment; the installation of 6,000 feet of 30-inch pipe to replace old 18-inch mains; the laying of some 30,000 feet of pipe of smaller diameters to extend the distribution system; and the construction of six tanks for local storage purposes with an aggregate capacity of 470,000 gallons.

1948 promises to be another important construction year because of the continuing growth of the population of this area. The year's program calls for further gross additions to plant amounting to nearly $1,000,000.

Junipero Serra Club

The Junipero Serra Mothers' Club met last Thursday in the old rectory at the Mission to listen to an educational discussion by Father O'Connell, and view education films by Carl Bensberg, who was trying out the new projector presented by the Club to the Mission. The members completed plans for a hope chest, which is on display at the Mission Cleaners.

PTA Meeting

In celebrating Founder's Day the Carmel PTA presented Mrs. Dana Thomas as speaker for its meeting Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Thomas, mother of Mrs. Mark Raggett, was recently presented with an honorary life membership in the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. Thomas spoke of the founding of the Parent-Teacher movement in 1897, and its growth until it now numbers over 4,500,000 members.

Announcements of a pot luck birthday supper for March 19, and the Kite Festival for March 13, were made.

Tea and a birthday cake for the day were served by Mrs. Burton Doolittle and her hospitality committee.

Ladies Auxillary

The Ladies Auxillary of the Fire Department met last Friday, February 6, to install new members: President, Dorothea Roberts; vice-president, Bernice Wermuth; secretary, Emily Huttleson, and treasurer, Mrs. Edna Askew. Old president, Yvonne Holtzhauer, married January 1, was given a surprise shower at the end of the meeting, with a huge wedding cake and heaps of gifts.

The second Friday of every month is always pot luck night, and this Friday will be a Valentine pot luck supper. All members and their husbands are invited.

Book Club

John Keppelman will be the speaker for next Monday's meeting of the Carmel Woman's Book Club Section, as announced by Mrs. H. J. Powers, section chairman. The meeting will be held in the Girl Scout House at 2:00 p. m. A Yale graduate, Mr. Keppelman was associated with the Time, Life, Fortune organization in New York, Washington, Chicago, and other eastern cities for nearly a decade.

Kappa Alumnae Club

The Carmel area Kappa Alumnae Club will hold its luncheon in the Victorian Room of the Pine Inn this Wednesday at 1:00 p. m. All members of Kappa Kappa Gamma and their guests are invited to attend. Please call Mrs. Frank Putnam, Carmel 1964-J, for reservations. Models from the fashion show will parade in the Victorian Room, also. The luncheon and meeting will be followed by bridge.

Youth Fellowship

The Youth Fellowship meeting scheduled as usual for Sunday night will have for its speaker Alton Walker talking on To Fly or Not to Fly. Mr. Walker owns and operates the Walker Aircraft sales and service, and also runs the air school at Monterey airport. There will be a party after the meeting at Carol Bedau's home. Hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Bedau and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrow.

Audubon Meeting

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will meet this evening at 7:30 in Room 2 of Sunset School for discussion of the spring program. Final arrangements will be made for the fourth Screen Tour lecture to take place March 3, when Tom and Arlene Hadley of Detroit will present a color motion picture-story of canoe treks through northern Michigan.

Lions Club

At the Tuesday dinner meeting of the Carmel Lions Club Mark Raggett presided and Freed Freeman, the tail twister, introduced the guests. Ed Graalfs presented the speaker of the evening, Dr. Joseph D. Blacow of the Monterey College.

As a result of the Lions golf tournament held last Sunday the following prizes were awarded: first, Frank Putnam; second, Mike Balazs; tied for third, Ed Graalfs and Dr. William F. Coughlin; fourth, Joe Hutter.

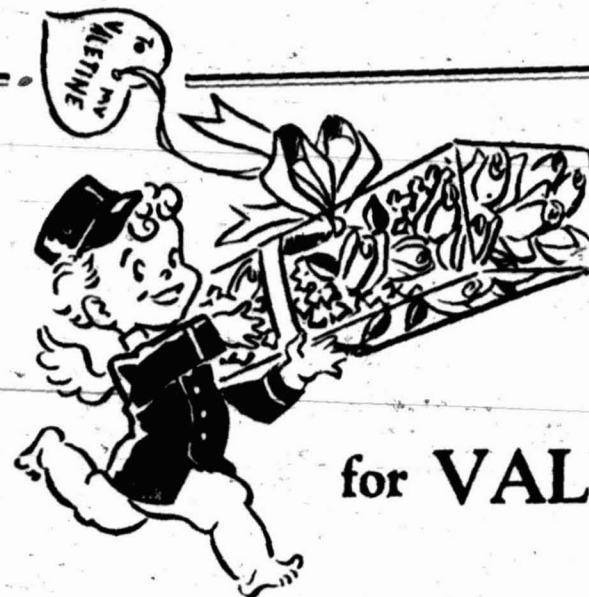

Plans were perfected for the dinner-dance to begin at 7:00 tomorrow evening at the Mission Ranch for members and guests.

Mission Altar Society Birdge

Mrs. Effie Young won the first door prize at the bridge tea given for the Carmel Mission Altar Society at the home of Mrs. George Fortier recently, the second and third prizes going to Mrs. Joseph McClosky and Mrs. Nina Terrill. The committee responsible for all the arrangements, including the handsome decorations in spring blossoms and white stock, were Miss Blanche O'Neill, Miss Florence Reidy, and Mesdames Helen Burke, Joseph McClosky, C. L. Delaney, Angela Grey, and R. T. Stoney.

Guests were Mesdames Carroll Briggs, Robert M. Brown, Kenneth White, Edwin Ewig, Sven Anderson, Margaret Rico, Enid La Grindeur, Carl Rasmussen, James Bedford, Nora J. Truslow, William D. Powell, Robert E. Osborne, Earl Price, Fenton Grigsby, F. E. Vaughan, Katherine Lansdowne, Leon Fisher, S. E. Coleman, C. L. Berkey, Anne Knox, Trace Scripture, Margaret Moore, Helen Palmtag, Willard Terrill, John Jordan, William Heathorne, Paul Chedester, Roger Gottfried, Eugene Scheffer, Laurence Melrose, Laura Stoney, A. Good Valentine News! The TUCK BOX opens tomorrow, and you won't have to worry about where to go for breakfast, luncheon, tea, about where to get English muffins and divine marmalade, about where to get all those home made accents the TUCK BOX specializes in. Remember Valentine's Day by the re-opening of your favorite tea time shop.

For an American Valentine small dainty picture-colored Hasting House Americana at the VILLAGE BOOK SHOP on Ocean in a series on Audubon, Birds, Wild Flowers, and the enchantingly amusing business of Love and Courtship, and Life and Fashion. To pamper your pet books, Edith Griffin suggests book plates etched with familiar San Francisco scenes, the bridge, Coit Tower, the wharf, in sets of 50 plates each; or these would make good library gifts for your collecting friends.

Swinging from cold to hot! If you're tired of cold waves the POWDER PUFF is ready with good machine waves and excellent pre-permanent hair shaping. You who are perfectly satisfied with your cold waves and find they do more for your hair than any other kind, should stick to them but others who are dissatisfied and have secret, frustrated yens for the good old days of machine permanent waves should let Virginia Snyder give you a Helen Curtiss or Rilling heat wave. Mrs. Snyder also gives the cold waves in these two permanent wave leaders.

Spring is a love song and here are Valentine cakes and goodies to accompany it at the CARMEL BAKERY on Ocean, where the array of crisp cookery makes you forget dieting and remember only feasting. Pink and white heart-shaped cookies glazed with frosting and centered with Valentine pictures, colorful yellow rum flavored tutti frutti cakes, lush row on row of pastries, are ready for your February carnivals. The BAKERY specializes in decorating and there is a window prelude for proof: an enormous white cake amply loaded with blue and red flowers, and two coy hearts saying To My Valentine.

At the always immaculate, exquisitely decorated NB FLOWER SHOP in the Seven Arts Court you will find Valentine flowers for your Valentine corsages: violets, sweetheart roses in delicate pink or yellow, camellias and many of the small varieties of orchids in wonderful shades of yellow, green, copper, and cream, some with striped petals like starkly perfect etchings.

Looking around the WALDO HICKS plumbing shop on Junipero I saw a compact group of short, hard-to-get items that any serious housewife would immediately wish to possess: Thor washers and ironers, Servel gas refrigerators, Dishmatic dishwashers, deep freeze home freezers, Tappan and O'Keefe & Merritt ranges, Frostaire combination frozen food compartment with refrigeration section, and Premier vacuum cleaners. You might make Valentine's a heartily functional holiday with any of these items.

Just before, during, and after, you are always sure to have a good time getting IDA HANKE'S European massage. It's nice luxury to let someone else whip you into shape, and you have a fine sense of exhilaration when Ida gets through with you.

On display at DON EARLY'S and also at the PG&E are the new 1948 Wedgewood gold star gas ranges. The fine feature of these ranges is the controlled action burners at three specific temperatures which is good gas bill, pot watching, and temper control. Kitchens cool down with these burners, and all your saved time sums up to less hasty hostessing and more leisure with the chatter. At least eight other tip top features giving top notch performance go with these Wedgewood gas ranges. Let your eyes rest on the beautiful things (especially if all the cooking is up to you) at DON EARLY'S and at the PG&E.

Parallel with Carmel progress, the MEL-O-DEE FLOWER SHOP and nursery on Dolores preserves Carmel past, presenting flowers and plants in an intimately informal rustic atmosphere with casual friendly service. Sam De Mello and new helper, Dorothy Hutchinson, suggest Valentine vamping with spring flowers: corsages, cut blooms of carnations, roses, potted plants, and old fashioned nosegays to go with mauve muffs, with old new look and manners. The shop is a true Carmel cottage of familiar wood, high dark ceiling, diamond shaped panes, with a flair for sporting flowers you want in an atmosphere you demand. Phone 1895.

Luring you into a Valentine venture is the FLOR DE MONTEREY on Franklin in Monterey with lilies for love and corsages for courtship. You will find all the spring flowers for your decorations and gifts, bundles of blooms for your Valentine choice.

Have some afternoon-evening valuable fun and make for the MONTEREY JEWELERS where an auction is in rousing sway till the end of the month, and where you'll find some real bargains in the overstocked Christmas stock being auctioned. Diamonds, wedding bands, watches, costume jewelry, go under the hammer, and each night a diamond ring is given away and three free gifts as second prizes. From 1:00 to 5:00 p. m., or from 7:00 p. m. to 9:00 p. m., an auctioneer who'll amuse you, and bargains you will love, and a lot of good sport with great prizes in view at the MONTEREY JEWELERS.

For daily traveling, shoulder slung or hung from the wrist, handsome high style genuine leather bag originals by Michael of California, carried at the LEATHER SHOP on Alvarado, which has the exclusive line in Monterey. Fool-proof, repair-proof, in 17 different styles from $13.35 up to $18.35, in elk and kip (overgrown calf), and with excellent clasps. White, red, green, navy, black, brown are the colors; the bags are good medium size hitting a variant between the shoulder luggage of yester year and the compact size uselessness of some of this year's wrist gear; but will you take Scouting's word that they are all in the manner of high style, high pointed design.

Functional and beautiful, the compacts and cigarette cases at WHEATON'S JEWELERS in Monterey, some compacts especially designed for Valentine's, shaped into gold or silver hearts, engraved with flowers, or saying I Do or I Love You in twenty different languages and all at once (think that over) or presenting an old-fashioned sentimental couple. There is a set of gold plate compact and cigarette case, smartly swept with black stripes; and a similar set in sterling with silver white stripes. A stunner is an oblong silver shape with a black line running across it in modern design; and you will like the sterling set etched with leaping golden deer. To take care of your cigarettes and powder, WHEATON'S offers these well designed cases.

With the name of Textron to guide you, go into HOWARD'S in Monterey for lingerie and hostess gowns. There are textron night gowns in white, pink, blue, with true Grecian bodice, closed in tightly by a tiny draw string, edged and fitted in lace, and selling at $9.95; white slips, tailored or delicately lacy, at $6.95, and you will find nylon textron practically indestructible; white panties, snugly brief or banded, $2.50 or $3.00; flowing robes in spring pastels for 19.95; and for smart traveling pajama and robe sets in bright checks or printed design. If you like, the robes can be had separately at $10.95. All this textron fascination at HOWARD'S in Monterey.

Carmen Stumpf, well known hostess, says, "I've et hamburger since I was five years old and they never hurt me. The reason my front teeth are wore down this-away is when I was chief chambermaid for Zatlir I used to hold bed pillows in my mouth while changing slips. I can't chew steaks anymore. No, it ain't that, sonny. They're just too expensive." You tell 'em, Carmen. RING'S for harmless hamburgers. Scott and Pacific, Monterey.

In preparation for sewing week which begins February 21, investigate the cotton yardage at BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE and let your tropic imagination go to work on your cotton summer wardrobe. Lawns, pale plaid ginghams, with dusty colors for tans, poplin, chambrays, butcher linen in which nothing is finer than a well executed black, brightly striped percales, piques, and one beautiful one for sweeping summer dancing, a gray background pique with the most scarlet of opened flowers. And also at BALZER'S, and collected for your sewing kit, the biggest button selection you've ever seen.

What's seemed different the last month or so when you've breezed into CARLETON'S GROCERY STORE? It's been familiar, all right, CARLETON'S couldn't be anything else, but strange too. Well, it's all that new space, all that new arrangement, all that spring air of freshness, largeness, newness. But there's still the same old well-stocked wine shelves, and the same old good service from three nice lads.

Some of the gallery joys of picture loving and discovering will be yours when you go into the CARMEL ART SHOP and look through the prints of old and modern masters that have been received. Size 7x10, or post card size (and what good correspondence to send a few words on the back of an Utrillo!) the prints include Da Vinci and other classic masters, impressionists, ballet-lover Degas, run-away-man Gauguin, and the fabulously famous Roualt and Picasso. The prints can be had mounted and framed if you wish; but do go in to find excellent reproductions of all your favorites.

Nostalgic aficionados of Mexican cookery can stop moaning about those special little pueblitos where they got such and such, and take themselves up hill to MANUEL'S RESTAURANT on Prescott and Lotti where Manuel and Felicitas will serve them enchiladas and frijoles to make them forget all about Mexican beaneries. And if you just want a slight snack, there's excellent coffee and plenty of tacos.

What's new? For Valentine's? At the CORNER CUPBOARD? The enormous range of cards for kids, and everybody else—round colorful woven bags from Columbia, and woven small hampers from Mexico—golden heart compacts for fearless nose powdering—a whiff from the Orient in the glazed emerald green pottery bowl and vases, with gold designed base—for dainty noses, intimate kerchiefs—story book dolls puffed with red satin, lace aprons studded with hearts—So, what's new for Valentine's? For him, for you, for her? See the CORNER CUPBOARD.

To dine in the Patio Room of the CASA MUNRAS gives one the feeling of dining out of doors; there is space, light, yet no shuddering breezes, and when necessary, a blazing fire to keep you warm. All Sunday afternoons dinners will be served from 12:00 to 9:00 p. m., and one can enjoy a club dinner with choice of entree, plenty of vegetables and rolls and beverage, or have a complete meal. Give yourself patio comfort and relaxation at the CASA MUNRAS.

New look for a grocery store is a good shape in shelves, merchandise, and tidiness, and to date KIP'S has never displayed better form. And there is good policy, too, for big scoops of ice cream are still a nicker, and so are Eskimo pies. And that's what to do with your nickels, kiddies. As for that health food, Yami Yogurt, there are always plenty of jars of it at KIP'S.

From ocean to valley is restful scenery change, and you might try Sunday brunch up at the CARMEL VALLEY INN, served until noon. Dinner is from 1:00 to 6:30; the dining room is open to the public every day, well staffed, well stocked, and the public is cordially invited to take itself Valley-wards with a rewarding CARMEL VALLEY INN dinner.

It's easier to dream tropic dreams, lean over a balcony, show off your tan, when you're simply gowned in a pure non-crushable linen from MAXINE'S DRESS SHOP. There are two piece suit dresses, with short sleeves, slightly flared skirts, careful pastels, a wonderful black suit with tiny waist and peplum effect, and a true star in the pure white linen suit and the jacket gold buttoned with a military block effect. Go south or stay home, you'll feel languorous in these linens; but above all you'll be sweet as a Valentine, fresh as your heart.

Lapel watches to hang over your beating heart on Valentine's day at the VILLAGE JEWELERS on Dolores; square watches dangling from smart straight pins, a round February fashioned tiny clock, set in a heart, hung from a bow. Keeping you awake this year, on time for events, for love, for what have you, are traveling, zippered Pullman clocks, electric clocks, and the tiniest, roundest, bluest alarm clocks you've ever heard. Depend on the VILLAGE JEWELERS to keep you well timed, and your time pieces well repaired.

Extraordinarily handsome prints in fine colors are to be found at the CINDERELLA SHOP in sizes 10 to 38, many half sizes, and two of the smartest prints are size 38. Witness: a clear black and white print with smart black faille jacket, and a two piece navy and white with navy lace edged on neck and pocket lapels. An unusual print featured a nosegay collection of colors, was bustled in back, and neckline inserted with net bands. Some prints had effective capes, others were deep and daring with low slashed necklines a la Dior; but above all you will like the tastefully put together colors.

Dramatic value equalling mathematical value, the full full circle of the new black faille ballerina skirts at GAIL COUPE'S will make you proud possessor of the room you enter, as well as of a new skirt. Designed by Bobbie Brooks, selling for $10.95, the skirts are waiting for you at GAIL COUPE'S smart shop on San Carlos in Carmel, phone 666-W.

The whitest, trimmest, straightest blouse of the Gibson girl family is hanging at PUTNAM & RAGGETT'S, with lace trimmed neck, ribbed yoke, black tie, long sleeves with long tight cuffs buttoned five times and finished with lace. A sister blouse hangs behind it with three-quarter sleeves and small, long-pointed collar. Carry your school books or wend your way office-ward with head held high in these freshest of blouses.

The carpet has been unrolled, and the beautiful lounge at the HIGHLANDS INN has been completely covered with an enormous 86 by 36 foot carpet; all the chalets have been carpeted, and around the fifteenth of the month, up go new drapes. Things are really going on in that high perched HIGHLANDS INN.

Don't forget the specials at MAC'S POULTRY SHOP on San Carlos: specials on roasters, fricasees, and fryers. And you might do some Valentine feasting off the fresh ducks, rabbits, and Tom turkeys to be had at MAC'S POULTRY. Rows of always fresh ranch eggs are ready for your early morning omelettes.

Former S. F. Mayor Visits

Mrs. Edna Lapham entertained her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lapham, during the latter's stay at the Carmel Valley Inn.

Artist's Mother Arrives

Dan Harris, Peninsula artist, and his wife, Gertrude, left for Los Angeles Monday morning to meet Mr. Harris' mother, Mrs. Hannah Harris, who arrived from New York City. They will bring her back to the Peninsula where she will stay at the Mission Inn, since the artist's home, Crazy Crescent in Del Monte Heights, is not finished enough to provide guest comfort. Mrs. Gertrude Harris is planning a cocktail party for her mother-in-law this Sunday.

Sunday Solree

Dr. Eric Berne continues his tradition of holding open house every Sunday evening for all of his friends. Around a blazing hearth groups gather, talk, dance, or often retire to the kitchen to play cards. Some of his guests last Sunday were Frank Lloyd and Marjorie, Red Ford, Manette Franke, Hal Masson, Carol Howard, Jake Kenny, Marie Short, and Sam Colburn.

University Women

University Women will meet at the Monterey High School on Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock to catch up on the business and to make plans for a rummage sale early next month. Program for the Wednesday night meeting will be the film, Roundtrip: The U. S. A. in World Trade, presented by Delbert R. Jeffers, Monterey city librarian, who will give the commentary.

Cannery Row Party

Ed Ricketts' laboratory in Monterey on Cannery Row was the setting Saturday night for one of those famous parties where an incredible number of people wander in and out, where a pot of beans is cooked to utter perfection, where there is always one jug more, and dawn finds seven or eight people sitting together, talking very intimately because they know each other very well having survived these parties for many many years. Acting as hostess for Mr. Ricketts was Miss Alice Campbell of Berkeley; the guest list included Tal and Ritch Lovejoy, Remo Scardigli, Alice Tackett, Don Kalish from Berkeley, Toby Street, and John Steinbeck, who was a big hit with nine Mills College girls in tow. Everyone somehow gathered the next day for more partying; a few energetic guests went beach wandering; the new phonograph was moved in the doorway and the guests adjourned to rain-green hills to listen to Mozart concertos in the open air. The evening ended with a huge meal of sukiyaki, shrimp and tea, and everyone wended his or her way back to San Francisco, Berkeley, or just over the hill to Carmel.

Bankers' Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hughes and Mrs. Helen Currie of Salinas drove to Santa Barbara last week, where Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Currie visited while Mr. Hughes drove on down to Los Angeles to attend the Bankers' Bank Management Committee meeting at the Biltmore. About 600 attended the dinner at which J. W. Dodge, president of the American Bankers Association, was the speaker. The Hughes' spent about five days away before returning to the Peninsula, where Mr. Hughes is president of the Monterey County Trust and Savings Bank.

Berkeley Guests

Dr. and Mrs. Eric Lehmann arrived Tuesday from Berkeley to be the guests of Arthur Lehmann and his sister, Miss Helene Lehmann, for the rest of the week. Dr. Lehmann is associated with the mathematics department at the University of California.

In Between Semesters

Penelope Kerr was home for an in-between-semester vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. McMillan Kerr.

Patricia Bacon just returned to College of the Pacific in Stockton after a Carmel visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bacon.

Carmel Unincorporated

Mrs. Joseph Stilwell, secretary and treasurer of Carmel Unincorporated, announced this week that the group is reactivating with a meeting to be held at 4 p. m., Tuesday, February 17, at All Saints' Parish House. Major General E. G. Chapman will preside, and discussion will be held regarding zoning ordinances and other matters of interest to property owners. All members are urgently requested to attend.

Oakland Guest

Visiting long time residents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morley of Carmel is Miss Pearl Kelly, down from Oakland for a relaxing village week.

Cerf On Carmel

Spotted in this week's Saturday Review of Literature were a few wise and witty notes from the column of Bennet Cerf. "In Carmel," reports Mr. Cerf, "radio writers Phil Cole and Martin Weiner set out to meet the literary colony. At the railroad station baggageman Koestler took care of their arrival and departure; they fished in a little river called the stream of consciousness, and when they ignored a red light, a traffic cop named Proust gave them a ticket in remembrance of things passed." Great, Mr. Cerf; we are always glad to be reassured about our literary colony.

Wayfarer Auxiliary Speaker

"Of the making of books there is no end," Howard E. Timbers quoted from the book of Ecclesiastes in opening for the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer on Tuesday afternoon last week his description of the making of books. Mr. Timbers spoke from his years of experience as proprietor of the Carmel Press and from his enjoyment of reading from boyhood days. The speaker was presented to his audience by Dr. Olive Swezy, vice-president and program chairman of the Auxiliary.

Topping off the book-making, Mr. Timbers read a number of delightful verses from the memorial volume of poems by the late Clara Maxwell Taft, a book recently sponsored by her Carmel intimates to share their humor and philosophy with other readers. Miss Isabel Smith was presented the book at the close of Mr. Timbers' talk.

Berkeley Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Leavenworth are visiting Mrs. Leavenworth's mother, Mrs. Vera Peck Millis, in Carmel Valley. The Leavenworths are from Berkeley.

Back To New York

Merrill Knapp has returned to his home in Bavaria, New York, after several weeks as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lehmann of Carmel.

DAY OF PRAYER

All interested persons are invited to the service of the World Day of Prayer conducted by the Monterey Peninsula Council of Church Women at All Saints' Episcopal Church on Monte Verde street at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The C. C. W. will meet for box lunch at 12:30 in the parish house, followed by a business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Ramsey Benson. Mrs. John W. Dickinson is broadcasting a message on the day at 10:15 to 10:30 over KDON.

Fashion Luncheon

Almost more crowded than ever was this week's Fashion Luncheon at the Pine Inn featuring clothes from the Cinderella Shop. Taking the stage before all others was a scarlet corduroy coat, full, fluid, long, designed by Adele of California and modeled by Cynthia Seaborne; Mrs. Seaborne looked most fresh and demure in a blue full-skirted Claire McCradell; the light blue shade was excellent with her corn colored hair arranged with a flower coronet.

Backless sun prints with jackets were shown and a silk print covered with tiny hearts for Valentine's Day, was modeled by Margo Bauer. A tweed check coat worn over a hand-loomed white dress was smart, especially as shown by lanky new model Jocelyn Crilly; Miss Crilly appeared later in an evening gown of blue and white cotton, the long waist looped and bustled and the skirt giving a hoop like effect; very old fashioned, very new.

Mrs. Edith Clancy (the former Edith Cox of Carmel) showed one of the simplest best blacks we've seen, quietly draped with brilliant sprinkled over a white collar. Pretty Sylvia Thorne modeled a Kelly green gabardine suit, and a red suit with short navy coat topped by a truly stunning navy satin hat.

These Fashion Luncheons are getting so popular, the shops, already using the Victorian Room, will probably have to utilize the lobby next. The next show will be Wednesday, February 18, and will feature clothes from the Carmel Dress Shop. There are two shows, 12:00 to 1:00, and 1:00 to 2:00, and it is good to make reservations very, very early.

ON PHELAN COMMITTEE

Robinson Jeffers has been appointed one of the judges to select a young poet for the $1,000 James D. Phelan 1948 Award in Literature. Professor James Caldwell of the University of California will also serve on the committee to consider California-born men and women between the ages of 20 and 40 for this honor. Candidates for the award should obtain proper forms from the James D. Phelan Awards in Literature and Arts, 820 Phelan Building, San Francisco, 2, before March 15.

Roving Discs

Found Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vial celebrating their 44th (it's true) anniversary Tuesday night, and planning a trip to that greenest of all waters, Caleta Beach at Aca-pulco.

Edith Greenan back in town, and seen around.

Sam Colburn got rid of that beard he started on Virginia City trip, with Jake Kenney and Marie Short.

Mrs. Emmy Blamer planning Mexico trip.

The marriage of Mary Louise McClure and Lilik Schatz came off last week. Judge Ray Baugh performed, and Alicia Campbell and Ed Ricketts were witnesses. The couple went on down to Big Sur, thence to Taos, New Mexico.

Herb Vial, Bert and Georgie Taylor, Lolli and George Wilcox on a skiing weekend in Toro. Lolli is good on the runs.

Lloyd Weer reading for main part in Voice of the Turtle, down in the tombs of the Playhouse—Green Room to you.

Manette Franke going to work on the Pacific Grove Tribune. How does she do it with three children? That's efficiency.

Betty Franke leaving Big Sur for more permanent quarters in San Francisco, preceded by Mary Navratol.

Kraig and Neil Weston thinking of building soon down in the Highlands, probably an adobe.

Goldbrick of The Pine Cone is still the sweetest dog in town.

Handsome Blair sisters, Virginia and Barbara, dwelling in gaily painted done-over fisherman's cottage until they can find a house.

Patricia Cunningham's painting Dipping the Nets was only one chosen from Carmel by the San Francisco Art Association. John Cunningham went to opening when painting was shown.

Louis Nicaud planning Valentine cocktail party. One going on up at Sam Colburn's, too.

Dr. Remsen D. Bird eagerly discussing an idea for organized arts and crafts center in Carmel. Equally enthusiastic about library enlargement.

Carol Howard rushing around, completing plans for her trip to Africa, leaving April 29. We intend to interview her for details and to find out what will happen to that sweet French poodle, Antoinette.

Virginia Varda and Frances Ney leaving the middle of March for cross country driving to New York and back. They'll be gone for about two months.

Speirs Ruskell and Shell and the baby getting packed for that long trip to Ireland, visiting Speirs' brother, who has lots of Irish acreage.

Louise Pontukoff planning lots of different trips—can't decide—like Peter Whiffle. He realized finally that he didn't have to go anywhere.

Two men glimpsed at Wednesday's fashion show: Rodney Coupe and Michael Franke were the brave lads.

Toby Street moving into his new home on Torres and Fifth.

Notes to Pat Wall's Los Angeles trip: Mr. Wall stuck on the one-way 3,000 foot snow blocked Jolon Pass, trying to make a quick dash from Highway 101 to the coast road.

Maureen Kennedy motored to San Francisco over the weekend and motored back with Mr. William E. Heilig. Mr. Heilig was scenery mad and took photographs all the way down.

Adelaide Anschutz saying hello for a few days on a leave of absence from Gump's.

Cascarone Carnival

A vigorous and gay throng of over 500 Peninsulites crowded the buildings of the Mission Ranch Saturday night to celebrate the annual Cascarone ball given by the Monterey Civic Club. Competing with the ribboned ceiling, long streams of stuffed eggs thudded through the air, burst bomb style over heads and bosoms, creating a confusion of confetti. In the banquet hall, under black panels figured with dashing knights, costumed ninitas sold the huevos; guests danced to music of Manuel Campos and his orchestra, ten musicians brightly costumed in red serapes and huge sombreros. In the Barn next door, more eggs were being sold, and the McDaniels Trio made music.

The grand march, led by Mayor and Mrs. Hugh Dormody and the officers of the Monterey Civic Club and their husbands, was a fashion show as well as an opening event. The human serpent wove about in double circles to display gowns and costumes: bare shoulder gowns, a wealth of black heirloom mantillas, puffy peasant blouses with colored skirts, and bustled taffetas for traditional elegance. The men had a reserved appeal in dark trousers and tight red summer-bunds.

Bars in the different rooms supplied refreshments; gaiety was in the rhythm of a true Spanish fiesta. All the carnivaleists agreed that the Baile de los Cascarones had come again into its own.

California Mardi Gras

A small duplicated Mardi Gras took place at the Casa Munras Tuesday night when the decorated patio room was filled with masked and costumed guests, having cocktails, dining, and having more fun in Monterey, they insist, than they ever would in New Orleans.

Teddy's Classmate

Teddy Greene, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Greene, flew home from Scripps College for the inter-semester recess, bringing her classmate, Elizabeth Strub of Pasadena, for a visit in Carmel. They returned south Sunday.

ORGAN VESPERS

Marion Goswick of Carmel will be the soloist at the Organ Vespers at the Church of the Wayfarer on Wednesday from 5:15 until 6 p. m. The public is invited to attend.

SCOUTING The SHOPS

In spite of the rain, the VILLAGE CORNER opened as per schedule on Wednesday morning at 8:30. The paint is still drying, and the patio should be finished by today sometime, but the coffee silexes are boiling away, the food is being served, and you won't have to wander past that closed door, wishing for the good old days of two weeks ago when coffee and fresh donuts and sandwiches were practically at the post office entrance. The good old days are back, and the VILLAGE CORNER doors are open again.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Do You Have Noisy Neighbors?

A lot of the neighbors were suddenly annoyed by Jeb Crowell's hammering at night. Jeb was building himself a new front porch—and the only time that he could give to it was after sundown.

Finally we decided the best thing to do was all pitch in and help—and get the carpentry over with as soon as possible. We did. Finished the porch next evening—and Jeb gratefully treated us to ice cold beer and cider.

From where I sit, that's what being a good neighbor means. Instead of complaining about the other fellow's habits, try to understand and share his interests.

So if my practising on the flute annoys you, come on over, neighbor, with your fiddle or guitar and join me! Maybe it will end up in our knowing and appreciating one another better... in an evening of good fellowship. And I'll promise to provide the beer that goes with evenings of good fellowship!

FREE FILMS IN P. G.

The public is invited to enjoy two films, A Place to Live and The City, to be shown at the Pacific Grove high school auditorium at 7:30 Monday evening, February 16, as part of the Let Freedom Ring program sponsored by the Parent Teachers Association, the Mental Hygiene Society, the American Association of University Women, the Council for Civic Unity and the League of Women Voters. Kathleen Lewis will open the meeting with a vocal solo, and guests of honor will be E. M. Brooks, John Gruhl and David H. Gill. The chairman at these Monday evening meetings is Norman Naas.

DRAMA CLASS

Lee Crowe returned to Carmel from Nova Scotia last week and February 5 opened the new drama course at the Carmel Adult School. He will utilize all his experience as actor and director, as well as designer and play-reader, to make this course the answer to the demand that has been made by aspiring playwrights, actors, electricians and all others who are essential to the success of a dramatic production. Classes are on Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7:30 in Room 3 of Sunset School.

Community Invited To Piano Debut In Free Concert At Sunset

for us all to remember.

To be quite frank with you, gentle readers, at this moment it is not known who will demonstrate the piano for you on Sunday evening! "Time marching on" as it does, the board of directors were, at their meeting last evening, confronted with the fact that at the scheduled concert of Jacques Thibaud on February 17 the piano will be heard by the subscribers to the concert series, and it was their wish to share it first with everyone in the community who might wish to attend and who could be accommodated in the Sunset Auditorium.

You are consequently cordially invited to listen to an Hour of Music (the name of the artist and the program will be announced later) performed on an instrument which we devoutly hope will be the medium of communicating the great heritage of piano music to your children and your children's children, whose happy destiny it will be to reside on this Peninsula.

—Noel Sullivan.

SUNSET SCHOOL CLOTHING DRIVE

Sunset School is going to have a clothing drive. It will start on February 16 and last two weeks. The clothing will be sent to Save the Children Federation. We want clothing for grown-ups as well as clothes for children. Clothes may be left at Sunset School or given to any Sunset School child. We hope to get more clothes than we did last year so the children overseas will have clothes to keep them warm. —Gretchen Herron, fifth grade.

Soyan Shkutoff of Carmel Highlands, against the ruling of the County Planning Commission, which rejected application for rezoning Highlands residence area for the purpose of erecting a grocery store. The board upheld the decision which the planning commission had made after a public hearing. A large majority of the property owners urged protection of the present zoning.

SERVICES FOR THERESA GROLLMAN

Funeral services for Theresa W. Grollman, who died in Lima, Peru, last January 4, during a conducted tour of South America, will be held from the Shannon Mortuary in Modesto, at 1:30, February 17. Miss Grollman was a native of Modesto but had spent many vacations in Carmel for over 20 years and during the last two years was a resident here. She was in charge of flower arrangements at the Pine Inn when she planned an extended vacation, and while on the way home succumbed to a heart attack.

MERCURIO SETS UP SHOP

Paul Mercurio last week began business as a barber on his own in the Pine Inn, planning to serve customers by appointment. He had been operating his own business in Carmel ever since 1921 but during the war joined forces with Robert Jones on Dolores street.

NEW HOURS FOR LOBOS

Schedule of visiting hours at Point Lobos Reserve State Park have been changed, according to notice received from H. L. Blaisdell, superintendent of the south central district of the division of beaches and parks. The gates will be open from 9:00 a. m. daily to 5:00 p. m., with complete evacuation at 6:00 p. m. Heretofore, visitors were allowed to remain until dark, and allowed to enter any time between 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. The new hours are designed to put some slight limitation on the attendance in an effort to protect the grounds from too heavy an invasion by the public.

BACH REHEARSAL

The Bach Festival chorus rehearsal will be held Monday evening, February 16, instead of Tuesday, for this coming week only, in order that the music lovers may not have to miss the Thibaud violin recital held Tuesday. The chorus will be conducted by Angie Machado, as usual, in the first grade room of Sunset School.

HOLIDAYS

Today is the unexpected holiday which the Carmel school board, at their meeting Tuesday evening, awarded to school children as a double celebration for Lincoln's birthday. The next chance the school board will have to prove its generosity comes the day after Washington's birthday, which occurs on a Sunday, for there will be no classes on Monday, February 23.

JOINS CARMEL INVESTMENT

Robert Little, who owns a home at First and Torres where he lives with his wife and two children, is now joining the Carmel Investment Company and will sell insurance. He is the tall, slim veteran who has been connected with Glenon's Sport Shop for the last two years, since separation from the Army.
